For several years, I have provided support to business professionals, home makers, retired folks in-person and online through remote software. Students have special tutors that train for passing tests. I am NOT that kind of tutor. I chose to work with ADULTS.

Also for years I have worked for two car dealerships as their "Certified Technology Expert" training buyers on how to use their phones, built-in GPS, Car Play, Android Auto and other technology in their newly purchased vehicles. Continuous training through the manufacturer allows me to maintain my certification so I stay up to date on emerging technologies.

I hope there is something I can do for you today - Samantha Conway, a Web Wench
